

JOINING THE EVENT

From the link supplied, you will be directed to a landing page for the event:

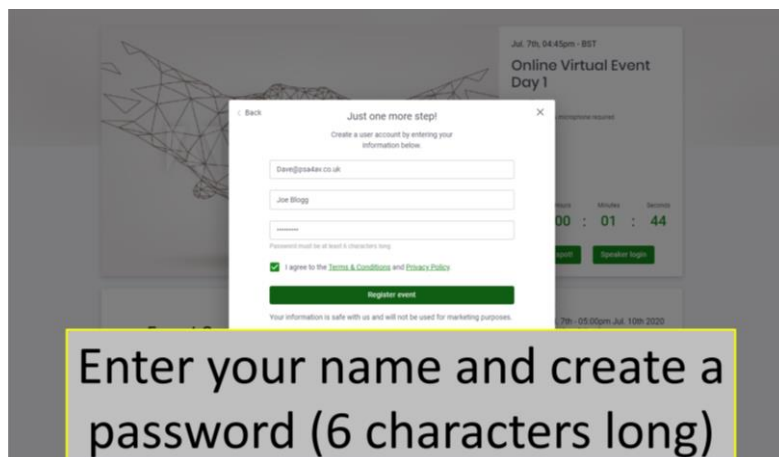

Before the meeting has started, you can confirm your attendance by following the “Confirm my attendance” link.

Once the timer hits zero, you will be able to join the event:

Enter your email address, your full name and create a password (this will then be your password for the platform, individual to yourself so it is important to remember / make a note of this password).

It is important to join the event with the same email address that was used to complete your registration. For security purposes, the platform will not allow you to join with an alternative email.

You will be taken through a quick tutorial and will then arrive in the networking area of the platform which will look something like this:
